

DID YOU KNOW?

Vacuum pumps play a key part in the production of photovoltaic cells, most commonly known as solar cells. Vacuum pumps such as the Edwards EXS dry screw and booster combination allow for solar cell manufacturers to produce high quality cells and achieve improved efficiency and lower maintenance during the solar cell production process.

Environments where innovation thrives.

